Introduction:

As per the provision of PWM Rules, Extended Producers Responsibility (EPR) for management of plastic waste packaging is entrusted with the PIBOs who introduce the products in the market. They are required to establish a system for management of plastic waste generated due to their products by engaging with local bodies. Local bodies are responsible for setting up of PWM system with assistance from Producers & Brand Owners.

The Ministry of Environment, Forests, and Climate Change, Government of India, notified an amendment to the PWM Rules on February 16, 2022, according to which producers, importers, brand owners (PIBOs), and Plastic Waste Processors shall comply with Extended Producer Responsibility as per Guidelines given in Schedule II of PWM Rules.

According to EPR guidelines for plastic packaging, Producers, Importers, Brand-Owners, and Plastic Waste processors shall have to register through the centralized online EPR portal developed by the Central Pollution Control Board (CPCB). A PIBOs shall have to obtain EPR Registration for Plastic Waste Management from CPCB.

Entity responsible to obtain EPR Registration

PIBOs, SIMPs are required to ensure that plastic waste is processed through Plastic Waste Processors (PWP) in accordance with an action plan in order to meet assigned EPR targets. They shall obtain a PWP certificate based on the amount of plastic waste processed by PWP and use these certificates to meet their EPR targets. If any Entity fails to comply with PWM rules, environmental compensation will be imposed, as well as disciplinary action.

The following entities shall register for EPR registration certificate on the centralized EPR portal developed by CPCB:

1. Producer
2. Importer
